--------------------------------	--------------	--

I'm a full-stack developer skilled in PostgreSQL, Express.js, React.js, Node.js, Next.js, and React Native. I build fast, responsive web and mobile apps with secure payment integration and scalable backend solutions. I also handle development, debugging, code review, and technical implementation across different applications and stacks

Experience

System development

2024 - present

- I work onsite at a Melaverse startup focused on school management systems and digital education solutions. My role involves building interactive applications, optimizing performance, and improving user experiences. I have developed a school management system, an online course streaming platform, and a healthcare management system for private schools.

Ai Trainer

May to August 2025

- I also worked as an AI Trainer at Post Work AI, where I completed AI training tasks and wrote code using Node.js, Next.js, and TypeScript. My work included debugging, reviewing outputs, implementing technical solutions, and helping improve AI model performance through quality evaluation and feedback

System development

2024-2025

- I developed a Kombolcha Police Station Management System for managing station resources and administrative operations, a PC Management System for Adama Science and Technology University to monitor computer labs and maintenance activities, and a full-stack MERN-based House Rent Management System as my final graduation project to manage and monitor rental resources across Addis Ababa city efficiently.
